

As efficient as we are effective

Our donors trust us to maximize every dollar and ensure their donation goes where it's needed most—that's the power of collective giving! Investing in a healthy financial ecosystem makes philanthropic investments go further and work harder for our community.

Our 120 years of well-managed philanthropic dollars is the result of intensive planning and fiscal responsibility, ensuring long-term financial stability and enabling a continuous stream of funding where the overall community needs it. And, with combined fundraising expenses of less than 5% of total income, supporting JUF allows our community to guide and direct our destiny, building the foundation for a thriving Jewish future.
